

- I. The Keto Macros Calculator collects no data pertaining to the user's location, or personal identification information (name, address, billing information, etc.). This app merely processes anonymous body measurements, including age, height, weight, gender, level of physical activity, and desired rates of weight loss, gain, or weight maintenance. These data are not associated with users' names or personal data, and users are not required to log in to use this service upon download.
- II. As of version 1.0, there are no third parties with whom this app shares data. This allows calculated data to persist even after the user closes the app.
- III. Any data that is stored is kept in the User Defaults of a customer's device. The app may ask to access a user's photos if they opt to save a screenshot of their results to their device.
